

Music offerings at the FAO Staff Coop

FAO Staff Coop is pleased to offer two activities for music lovers and those interested in expanding their knowledge of (mainly, but not only!) classical music.

1) General music class (Tuesdays at 13:00) - We're a small group who meet once a week for an hour to discuss aspects of music, and every week there is a different theme, subject, period in music, or composer. This class is designed especially for people who enjoy music and the arts and would like a deeper understanding of music. There is always time allowed for discussion, and subjects that you would like covered are always welcome. We also listen to music together, but no knowledge of reading or playing music is required. Just attentive ears and an interest in expanding your knowledge.

Maestro Orhan Memed (www.orhan-memed.org), our FAO Staff Coop piano teacher, will lead this one-hour ZOOM class on Tuesdays at 13:00. The cost is €10 per class. If you happen to miss a class, you'll always have access to a video of the missed class. There is open enrolment and you can join at any time. The first class of the season is 13 September.

2) Music Fundamentals (Fridays at 12:00) - Designed for those of you who already read music, this online Zoom class will explore music through a study of theory, forms and genres. Think of this class as an opportunity to delve into all aspects of music, to understand how musicians and composers make music, to understand music notation and, above all, to fine-tune your ears when you listen to any kind of music. As with the other music classes, it will be adapted to the participants' background and feedback.

Maestro Orhan Memed (www.orhan-memed.org), our FAO Staff Coop piano teacher, will lead this one-hour ZOOM class on Fridays at 12:00. The cost is €10 per class.
