"If I were an Italian comedian performing in English, I would want to be as funny as Francesco De Carlo" - Eddie Izzard

FRANCESCO DE CARLO HISTORY OF ROME

A comedy show in english

Francesco De Carlo History of Rome is a comic monologue entirely in English intended for all foreigners who pass through or live in the Eternal City every day. It is a hilarious journey through the ruins of a glorious past, retracing the stages of Rome's history from its foundation to the fall of the Empire, recounting above all its most paradoxical and amusing events. The quarrel between Romulus and Remus, the brutal deeds of the seven kings, life in the Republic and the follies of the emperors will be narrated in the universal language of stand-up comedy, with a special focus on the habits, technologies and words used by the Romans that have survived the millennia and are still alive today. Francis will recount the fake news about the she-wolf, the cancel culture on Nero, the shitstorm between Augustus and Marc Antony, Cicero's media trials against corruption, up to the curious transformation of Julius Caesar into a world-famous chicken salad.

Because Rome is still a model for contemporary society and has tackled the same issues we face in the 21st century, from racial integration to civil rights, from rush-hour traffic to babygangs, from fast food to waste disposal, pandemics and climate change. Without any popularising pretence, but with the sole aim of entertaining foreign audiences, Francesco De Carlo's History of Rome is intended to be the first resident comedy show for tourists, students and expats passing through the capital who want to discover what lessons we can still learn from a history of glory and decadence, imperial splendour and everyday anecdotes.
