Violence against women in 'Tabarro' and 'Barbablù' (Bluebeard) in the diptych directed by Mariotti and Erath. "These are two stories of gender violence. Two stories that remind us of the too many cases in today's news, in which the woman is crushed by the man and by a brutality that is more unacceptable today than ever before'. This is how Michele Mariotti describes the diptych formed by Giacomo Puccini's Il tabarro and Béla Bartók's Il castello del Duca Barbablù, which the Rome Opera House is presenting together from 6 to 18 April in a new production designed by German director Johannes Erath, in his first opera engagement in Italy as well as his debut at the Costanzi Theater.
